The invention described in claim 1 appears to involve an inventive step over documents 1-3 cited in the ISR. Documents 1-3 does not describe a protruding part preventing a printed board from floating and an image forming fragment to be accommodated in a notched part, formed on the edge of the printed board; nor are these points obvious to a party skilled in the art.

The invention described in claim 2 appears to involve an inventive step over documents 1-3 cited in the ISR. Documents 1-3 does not describe a protruding part preventing a printed board from floating and an image forming fragment which protrudes from a mount linked to a base part and is to be inserted into a pore provided on the printed board; nor are these points obvious to a party skilled in the art.

The inventions described in claims 3-8 appear to involve an inventive step over documents 1-3 cited in the ISR. Documents 1-3 do not describe a protruding part preventing a printed board from floating and an image-forming fragment which protrudes from a part linked to a back part that is to be inserted into a pore provided on the printed board; nor are these points obvious to a party skilled in the art.
